

International Cartoon Competition „The Great and the Little Warsaw”

The Museum of Caricature and Cartoon Art in Warsaw celebrates its 35th anniversary by inviting artists to take part in an International Cartoon Competition whose topic is:

The Great and the Little Warsaw

– or whatever good or even better things we can say about our capital

Warsaw – the capital of Poland – has one of the largest populations among European cities. Its long history, dating back to the 9th century, can often prove fascinating. It is a city that was razed to the ground, burnt and gutted during World War II, and still, rebuilt after 1945, it continues to live, though it was supposed to disappear from the face of the earth. It is a city that received the Silver Cross of Poland's highest military decoration for heroism and courage – the Virtuti Militari.

Fascinating as the city can be, it is certainly not devoid of problems that may get on its inhabitants' nerves. Like every great agglomeration it can delight with life on a grand scale, but also – irritate with its traffic jams. What does the city look like in the eyes of those who live here, but also – of visitors from other Polish cities and of foreigners? What do they find amusing, and what – annoying? What delights the onlooker? This is the topic that we ask our astute observers – the cartoonists – to illustrate.
